JACK WOMACK
(1a-6a eastern)

As soon as Womack was legally able to work, he got his first job in radio as board operator even before he had a driver's license. From there Womack would go on to host a variety of day parts and quickly earned a role as a music director. One of the few things that could lure him away from radio and country music is weather. So, he decided to answer Mother Nature's calling, going back to school for weather and becoming a television meteorologist. Some markets Womack has been on tv, radio, or both simultaneously... include Billings, MT, Colorado Springs, CO. Tulsa, OK. and New Orleans, LA. Ever since a family trip to the Opry and his first Country Radio Seminar he knew Nashville was the place he had to be.
